

M&G (Lux) Absolute Return Bond Fund Euro Class C – Accumulation shares

Monthly Fund Review as at 31 January 2021

For investment professionals only

Highlights

- It was a relatively subdued month for fixed income markets, with returns held back by rising government bond yields and steepening yield curves.
- Credit proved more resilient, with investment grade spreads fairly flat, while high yield spreads saw a modest tightening.
- We selectively participated in a number of new corporate bond issues, while trimming some of the fund's higher beta names in order to reduce overall credit risk.

The main risks associated with this fund

For any past performance shown, please note that past performance is not a guide to future performance.

The value and income from the fund's assets will go down as well as up. This will cause the value of your investment to fall as well as rise. There is no guarantee that the fund will achieve its objective and you may get back less than you originally invested.

An 'absolute return' fund may not move in line with market trends or fully benefit from a positive market environment.

The fund may use derivatives to profit from an expected rise or fall in the value of an asset. Should the asset's value vary in an unexpected way, the fund will incur a loss. The fund's use of derivatives may be extensive and exceed the value of its assets (leverage). This has the effect of magnifying the size of losses and gains, resulting in greater fluctuations in the value of the fund.

The fund can be exposed to different currencies. Movements in currency exchange rates may adversely affect the value of your investment.

Further risk factors that apply to the fund can be found in the fund's Key Investor Information Document (KIID).

Single year performance (%)

*from inception (21/12/2016 to 31/12/16)

Past performance is not a guide to future performance.

Gross = performance after fees but before any entry charge is taken into account.

Net = performance after fees but after any entry charge has been taken into account.

The maximum allowable entry charge of 1.25% (i.e. €12.50 for an investment of €1000) is deducted in the first investment year. This means the gross/net figures differ solely in that year. Other charges may reduce performance.

For investment professionals only

The fund is actively managed. The investment manager has complete freedom in choosing which assets to buy, hold and sell in the fund.

The performance shown in the chart and table above does not take entry charges into account.

Fund performance shown here is both gross returns (before the Ongoing Charge Figure is taken), in line with the objective of the fund, and net returns (after the Ongoing Charge Figure has been taken), to illustrate how charges affected the performance. Investors should note that the net return is what they would receive and is therefore the more relevant figure.

Commentary

It was a relatively subdued month for fixed income markets, with returns held back by rising government bond yields and steepening yield curves. A key driver for these moves was the outcome of the Georgia runoff elections in the US, which gave the Democrats control of the Senate and raised the prospect of increased fiscal stimulus.

US Treasuries returned -1.1% in the month as 10-year yields climbed above 1% for the first time since March 2020. Other core government bond markets sold off in sympathy, with bunds (-0.4%) and gilts (-1.7%) both losing ground. Credit proved more resilient, with investment grade spreads fairly flat, while high yield spreads saw a modest tightening. It was also a good month for oil prices, which were boosted by the announcement of output cuts from Saudi Arabia.

In currencies, the key outperformers were the US dollar and sterling, with the latter likely benefiting from reduced uncertainty following the recently announced Brexit deal, as well as the fast pace of the vaccination rollout in the UK. Emerging markets currencies generally struggled, especially in Latin America with the Brazilian Real (-4.9%), Argentine Peso (-3.4%) and Mexican peso (-3.4%) all weakening against the US dollar. The Japanese yen was another notable underperformer, weakening by 1.3% versus the US dollar.

With credit markets fairly rangebound during the month, fund returns were relatively flat in January.

Key changes

It was a busy month for the primary market, and we purchased a number of new corporate bond issues, although we remain selective in this area given current pricing. Elsewhere, we continued to trim some of the fund's higher beta names in order to reduce overall credit risk. On the macro side, we added Norwegian government bonds, as well as US and German inflation-linked government bonds as part of a potential reflation trade. We also reduced some euro duration, while trimming our exposure to long-dated French government bonds. In its place we added some US dollar duration. Within currencies we reduced our Malaysian ringgit position.

The above ongoing charge figure is an estimate of the charges because of a change to the charging structure with effect from 1st October 2020.

The ongoing charge figure may vary from year to year and excludes portfolio transaction costs. The audit fees and custody transaction charges are borne by M&G until the fund size increases to above 200 million euros. The fund's annual report for each financial year will include details on the exact charges made. Any ongoing charge figure with * indicates an estimate. The fund's annual report for each financial year will include details of the exact charges.

ESG Standard Glossary

Additional ESG specifications: In the context of M&G, these are funds managed with an explicit ESG objective, outcome or in accordance with specific ESG criteria, and will have a number of minimum exclusions in place.

Engagement: Interaction with company management on various financial and non-financial, including ESG, issues. Engagement allows investors to better understand how a company is undertaking its operations and how it is interacting with its stakeholders, as well as advising on and influencing company behaviour and disclosures where appropriate.

ESG integration: Describes the explicit and systematic inclusion of Environmental, Social and Governance factors in investment analysis and investment decisions. It underpins a responsible investment approach, and allows investors to better manage risk and generate sustainable, long-term returns.

Exclusions: The exclusion or restriction of investments based on the sector in which they operate, the products or services they provide or for other specific criteria, i.e. they are deemed to be in breach of the United Nations Global Compact principles on human rights, labour the environment and anti-corruption.

Voting: As the partial owners of a company, shareholders have the right to vote on resolutions put forward at a company's annual general meeting. These resolutions include the re-election of directors, executive remuneration and business strategy, among others, and may include resolutions put forward by shareholders.

Important information

The M&G (Lux) Absolute Return Bond Fund is a sub-fund of M&G (Lux) Investment Funds 1.

Where a security has not been rated by Standard & Poor's, Fitch or Moody's, we may use M&G's internal credit rating. Based on a comparison of all available ratings for each security, the most conservative rating (S&P, Fitch, Moody's or M&G's internal rating) is taken into consideration. The ratings so identified are then expressed or converted into M&G's ratings format to obtain uniform information for all securities in the portfolio.
